Volume 14 No 1

January 2005

Fiona McIntosh Signing

We had another successful author signing on 4th Dec. Boosted by the visits Fiona has made to Infinitas, several of her books made our bestsellers list.

Harry Potter

The next Harry Potter book has been announced: Harry Potter and the Half Blood Prince. Due out on 16th July at 9:01am, HC $45. Rumour has it that neither Harry nor Lord Voldemort is the half blood prince, Dan suspects it might be Neville. We are taking pre-orders now. Keep tuned for a special offer and competition.

Discworld

Terry Pratchett's next three Discworld novels have been announced during his recent Australian tour: Wintersmith, a new Tiffany novel, Thud, a Guards novel, and When I am Older I Will Wear Midnight, another Tiffany novel.

McCaffrey & Scarborough

Random House/Delrey Books has announced that Anne McCaffrey and Elizabeth Ann Scarborough have submitted the first manuscript in a new trilogy set in their Powers That Be universe.

Role Playing Gamers

Are there any RPG players looking for games, or games needing new players out there? Email the shop with details to be put in touch.

Leviathan 2005

For tabletop wargamers into WH40K, WH, HeroClicks and others, Leviathan 2005 will be held 23rd & 24th April, at (unconfirmed)Quakers Hill High School. Contact the shop for more information. Infinitas will be providing prizes.

Eragon Film

Later this year we should see the cinema release by Fox 2000 of the Eragon film based on Christopher Paolini's book

Book Addict's Email

We would like to share an amusing response from a customer after being told about a new book in the series they had been buying:

Thanks Dan...

see you tomorrow

It is Xmas I have no money

You people will be the death of me

Christmas

Christmas sales figures were significantly better than the previous year, though in many ways it's nice to have the rush over.

Tsunami

Web blogs report Arthur C Clarke has lost his seaside holiday home, diving station and various boats in the recent tsunami disaster. Worse, some of the diving station staff are missing. In his 1957 book Reefs of Taprobane : Underwater Adventures Around Ceylon he described a tsunami following the 1883 eruption of Kratatoa reaching Galle harbour. Our sympathy is with all affected.

Aurealis Award Finalists

Novels and short stories short listed for the awards have been announced. Congratulations to all the authors who have got this far. The winners are to be announced at a ceremony on Jan 22nd in Brisbane. Click through the News page on our website for the full listing.

PB $19.95

John Jetty Australian AuthorThe Blessings of Stefan*

A thousand years hence lovers will still have to fight to be free. There is still conspiracy, murder and betrayal. A thousand years hence is a city, deep underground where every single person is blind. Except for Thurii Brook of Summerisland. This is the story of Thurii and Corinth, eldest daughter of the Lords Spiritual. What terrible tragedy had happened all those years ago so frightening the Church that it had closed ranks and engaged in a massive cover-up? Corinth's search for the truth leads to a tumultuous final battle in which she and Thurii have to fight for survival, not just their survival but that of the entire city.

PB $19.95

Review by Tim

This is the story of a young gardener, Thurii, who is supported and protected by his family. He was born different, disabled, with learning difficulties and subnormal hearing and touch skills, but with surprising talents. In the teeming, subterranean, technologically advanced warren of a city which is their world, he alone can see.

Rebellion is brewing amongst the proud and educated miners against the unforgiving Church of Stefan, who rule with an iron fist. Long buried scandals come to light.

Thurii finds first love in Corinth, a wealthy, powerful, high ranking young church official. Thurii, Corinth and their families become the catalyst for action and symbolic focus of cynical machiavellian politicians.

This is a novel and interesting book, but be warned, it is a self published first novel. It contains frequent grammatical errors and should have tried to engage the reader's imagination more rather than overly explain character motive and actions. This leads to a rather slow pace to the love story.

Do not be put off by the frequent references to church. This book is not theological or moralising. It is a well conceived futuristic story of people stumbling with a new technology, sight and all it allows, verses old technologies based upon touch, sound and smell. However, this is mostly a story of politics, and of young people discovering the world is worse than they had hoped, but finding love regardless.

Joe R LansdaleSunset and Sawdust*

Overturing the reign of a misogynist local lawman to become the new constable of sawmill settlement Camp Rapture, Sunset Jones investigates the murder of a pregnant woman, the truth about which forces her to draw on an inner strength she never knew she possessed. TP $26.95

Stephen LawsFear Me*

After three women band together to destroy a sadistic seducer named Gideon, they feel certain they are safe from his depravity, but Gideon does not die so easily. PB $17.95

Susan KrinardShield of the Sky*

Ever since witnessing a sacred ritual, Rhenna of the Free People has been isolated. Now she walks alone guarding the land's borders, growing more troubled by the changes in the wind. Anger and war are rising. The mountain-dwelling shape shifters are disappearing, and word has come of an evil new god whose followers are known by the red stones they hold and the chaos that accompanies them. PB $18.95

Review by Lynn T

The Shield of the Sky is home to the Free People: Amazons, the Sisterhood. It is also home to the Ailu people, a shape-shifter race descended from the ancient gods themselves. Rhenna of the Free People, not quite an outcast of her tribe and her companions, Tahvo of the North (a seer) and Cian of the Ailu meet on a journey to the Karchedon, the heart of the Empire, to save their world as they know it. Along the way they meet Quinn, a Tiberian rebel and Philokrates, the scholar - allies but perhaps with agendas of their own.

Their world with its devas and spirits is changing, not for the better, as the Stone God and its zealot priests use the emperor's power to spread their religion throughout the world.

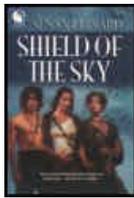

Their quest has many goals; to prevent the slaughter of innocents, to prevent the capture of the Ailu, to free those already taken and to end the reign of the Stone God.

As Rhenna and her companions travel on, they discover facets of themselves they would not have known if their lives had been ordinary. The extraordinary circumstances and their dire necessity to succeed in their quest to save the world leaves the reader wanting to see them succeed.

This story is an intriguing mix of history and fantasy - combining the Amazons, religion and the supernatural in one blend.

Similar in style to Steven Pressfield's 'Last of the Amazons', this is a fairly easy read and one you can pick up and put down when time is short.

Definitely looking forward to the next instalment of Rhenna and her friends' journey.

Jeff LongThe Reckoning*

Drowned Wednesday

Arthur Penhaligon has a broken leg and a bad attack of asthma, but there's no time for recovery. Drowned Wednesday has sent a ship to pluck him from the safety of his bed, miles from any ocean, and sail him back to the House. From hospital room to the high seas, Arthur must battle pirates, storms, monsters made of Nothing and a vast beast that can't stop eating. Arthur struggles to unravel the mystery of the Architect's disappearance, and the plotting of the Trustees. For the sake of all that dwell in the Secondary realms, he must discover the third part of the Will and claim the Third Key. But first... can Arthur trust the Raised Rats? Where are Leaf and Suzy? And how will he survive life aboard ship on the treacherous Border Sea? PB $14.95

Review by Liam (age 10 1/2)

Drowned Wednesday is the third book in the Keys to the Kingdom series, which have been a great success I might add. In this story Lord Arthur continues in his quest for the Keys and to free all the seven parts of the Will in the Border Sea.

This book and the others in the Keys to the Kingdom series are similar in style to the Seventh Tower series also written by Garth Nix.

This story has lots of magic (with help from more Nothing), many more creepy characters and strange friends to help. Drowned Wednesday is suited to children about twelve years old and also can be enjoyed by adults as well.

I myself have been eagerly waiting for this book to come into my life and it certainly was worth the wait.

Information on the Infinitas Groups

New members always welcome at all the groups, if interested come and try.

Readers' Group: The readers group meets on the first Thursday of each month (excluding January) at 6.30pm in the shop. A topic is chosen each month by the attendees of the group for the following meeting. The next meeting will be Thursday February 3rd and the topic is Best Books of 2004.

Review Group: The review group meets on the third Thursday of each month. Two books (one science fiction, one fantasy) are chosen by group members for each meeting with participants encouraged to have read at least one prior to the meeting and bring their review/s along for discussion. Upcoming meetings are:

Thursday January 20th 6:30pm: Shards of Honor (SF), The Curse of Chalion (F), both by Lois McMaster-Bujold

Thursday February 17th 6.30pm: Jack McDevitt's Engine of God (SF) and Raymond E Feist's Talon of a Silver Hawk (F)

Writers' Group: Infinitas has been host to a writers group for over 8 years now. In 2002 Passing Strange, an anthology of short stories by members of the group was published by Mirrordanse Books. The group is for people who are currently writing (or even trying to write) science fiction, fantasy and horror related stories and pieces. If you think this might describe you, and you'd like to get involved in a group with others who understand what the genre is about, contact the shop or check out the website for more details.
