Jack Williamson died aged 98 on November 10th this year. He was one of the Grand Masters of Science Fiction.

The Hobbit, the hopefully forthcoming movie, is attracting controversy on various websites since Peter Jackson announced he has been told he will not be involved. However, this is far from certain with positive comments from MGM, surveys by fans and a legal dispute still underway. His 3 Lord of the Rings movies were fabulous and fans want him for the Hobbit too. <http://www.theonering.net>

Hammered by Elizabeth Bear, review by Tim

<http://www.infinitas.com.au/Product.php?bar=9780553587500>

Hammered is the first published novel by US author Elizabeth Bear and the first in a trilogy. With this book Bear has appeared as a significant new talent in the genre.

The series is hard science fiction, somewhat military, set on a near future earth just reaching into space. Global warming has shifted the economic balance of the world economy. The fertile grain belt of USA has shifted north into Canada, leaving USA with massive soil erosion, crop failure, famine and civil strife. Christian Fascists are ruling USA in economic and social collapse. Canada and China are now the superpower rivals. Canadian troops run UN peacekeeping missions into the USA and the try to contain the racial wars in South Africa. This is all scene setting, and not the core of the story. Jenny Casey, the lead protagonist, is a veteran of these wars and now trying to live unnoticed in the drug and crime infested USA slums. She gets drawn into a gangland war, which leads to international espionage and a new space race. In treatment for her for various battle wounds, she has acquired a metal arm and various other bionic military modifications. Casey is now coveted by scientists and politicians because she is a rare success in this ethically suspect medical research. Casey is presented as a very accomplished soldier but the reader has long waits between combat scenes. This is not a pulpy shoot-em up book. It contains realistic romantic tension, detailed military combat, likely scientific advances and civilisation failures, all seeded with the hope that humans bring with their chaos.

Hammered, Scardown and Worldwired are a series and the reader needs all 3 to complete the story, however, each book is its own novel with a differing feel and plot focus, with progression through crises and character development, or death. In this way the trilogy is so much better structured than most. Many recently published series are either one long story truncated into convenient page length volumes or merely serial episodes with the same characters. Bear has created something better. I am keen for more.

I would like to commend the publisher for releasing the whole trilogy in paperback in the same year, 2005. This allowed anticipation and momentum amongst the readership. I really loved reading these books and have been introducing many other readers to the series.

Emissary by Fiona McInstosh, review by Josephine Crowley

<http://www.infinitas.com.au/Product.php?bar=9780732281816>

The Percheron Saga continues with Emissary which is Book Two. Set in the kingdom of Percheron and in particular its court, we are taken into the minds and lives of Ana and Grand Master Eunuch Salmeo and Valide Herezah who all live in the harem.

Once again we are intrigued by Pez, the court's mad dwarf, and the demon, Maliz, who is in disguise as the Grand Vizor.

Much intrigue follows in this story with its many characters. Magic abounds and war is on the horizon and a long journey is made.

I found it took me several chapters of reading before I became familiar with the story, although it was only a short few months since I had read Book One. As the story progressed I felt it was a little drawn out and almost repetitious. Even so it was an enjoyable read and I especially liked the cover picture, in itself intriguing.

Assassin's Apprentice by Robin Hobb, reviewed by Bill Browne

<http://www.infinitas.com.au/Product.php?bar=9780006480099>

The Assassin's Apprentice is a well written book set in the 'Six Duchies', a medieval nation. The focus of the book is the early years and coming-of-age of the protagonist, 'FitzChivalry Farseer', the bastard son of the heir to the throne. It also tracks Fitz's career as an assassin, but this is not as important as the title would suggest.

What is beguiling about this book is its mundanity. Most of the story is concerned with Fitz's training, pastimes, companions and politics, but because of the detail and richness of the characters these topics are made interesting. Although there is magic in the world (in fact, Fitz has the capacity for both the Wit, concerning animals, and the Skill, concerning humans), the Skill requires intense dedication and (it is commonly believed) royal blood. Burrich, Fitz's mentor and caretaker, sees practicing the Wit as 'filthy', and its use is punishable by death. As such, magic is used only sporadically throughout the book.

As well as exploring the Six Duchies and their people, Fitz learns something of the Outislanders and the Mountain Kingdom, two cultures that (like the Six Duchies) have no parallel in the real world but are inspired by several different societies. Hobb does not overburden the reader with facts, but lets them learn slowly about the world just as Fitz does.

If the Assassin's Apprentice has a flaw, it is that the main characters seem almost invincible. Some characters should, by rights, have died several times through the book. One lucky escape is understandable, but more is excessive.

However, this is a minor quibble. The book exposed me to an intricately designed world with deep, complex characters and many mysteries. Although the book involves a teenager, it is not written for young adults (although they can enjoy it, as I did). Its themes of politics, birthright, morals and ethics will make it most appealing to mature readers.

Uglies by Scott Westerfeld, reviewed by Karen Maric

Uglies is a young adult novel set in a world where all children are 'ugly' (that is, normal) until the age of sixteen, when they undergo an Extreme Makeover-type operation that transforms them into breathtakingly attractive 'pretties'. And, if the idea of being incredibly physically attractive isn't appealing enough, the newly made pretties also get to spend their days work-free, living in luxurious apartments where high-tech machines spit out whatever outfits and snacks the pretties request. Nights for the pretties are an endless cycle of booze-fuelled celebrations.

The novel begins with the main character, Tally, just weeks away from her sixteenth birthday. Tally is thrilled by the thought of becoming a pretty. However, after she meets the rebellious teenager, Shay, Tally's entire life is overturned. Shay has doubts about the operation? and suspects the government has sinister motivations for beautifying the populace? and so flees the city to live in the wilderness with a group of ugly-by-choice renegades. On discovering Shay's disappearance, the authorities refuse Tally her operation? unless she tracks down Shay and betrays her friend by revealing the renegades' location. Tally's journey to find the renegades and the encounters she has with them will cause her to question everything she believes in, including what it means to be 'ugly'.

This thought-provoking novel is the first in what promises to be an exciting new trilogy from Scott Westerfeld.

Gravity Well

by Ashley Arnold

Try as he might, Kevin couldn't escape the gravity well.

The event horizon hung like a curtain of heavy clouds in front of him. That epiglottis of horizons looked so close yet was always out of reach. But that was the nature of the event horizon—things could come in, but nothing could ever get out.

So Kevin sat and waited. Despite the excitement that another day might bring, for there were always new gifts from outside, existence at the centre of the galaxy had become tiresome.

Then a phone emerged from the curtain, followed by an ever-increasing line of cable. Kevin snatched the receiver and put it to his ear. 'Hello?'

'Kevin? How are you boy?'

'Fine, I guess. Who's this?'

'I'm Dave, the Supreme Ruler of the Galaxy. We're going to get you out by piling all the matter in the galaxy in there. When we're done, you'll be able to climb out.'

'That sounds expensive.'

'The galaxy has voted in favour—unanimously. The fate of a boy stuck at the bottom of a gravity well has united the galaxy like nothing before.'

'Won't filling the hole with more matter only make the event horizon larger and stronger?'

'You'd think so wouldn't you? But apparently there's a point of diminishing returns. The more matter in there, the closer it all is to the edge. My mathematicians assure me it's true. They've shown me the calculations, and I've never seen more pages filled with numbers and obscure squiggles.'

Kevin thought for a moment over what he knew of black holes and event horizons. Supposedly nothing could escape the event horizon, so intense was the gravitational pull. 'How can you hear me anyway? How is my voice getting out of the well?'

'The mathematicians and the engineers, my boy. They can protect a tubular region the size of an electron so that an electric signal can get out. They assure me they can't make it large enough for a person to fit through, otherwise we'd have the fire brigade down there dragging you out as we speak.'

'Well, okay. Let me know when you're done.' But the line had gone dead, the cable having snapped.

Soon after, matter rained from the horizon. At first ladders and step stools, even a lift carriage, as if the universe thought it would help him to get closer to the edge if he had something to climb up. Although it was well intentioned, for Kevin it meant having to dodge a stream of bullets falling from the sky.

Soon larger items came down, until the crushed remains of entire planets and the gaseous remnants of stars—their reactions extinguished by liberal smatterings of nuclear retardant foam—came down. All the while Kevin had to continually stay on top of the latest barrage. It takes a long time to climb through a planet-sized bucket of matter, so it was just as well time had no meaning at the centre of a black hole. The horizon looked no nearer, or rather it looked as near as ever but always remained out of reach.

The onslaught went on and on—the universe was really making its best effort on his behalf.

When it finally happened, it took only a fraction of a second, close to a Planck length of time. One moment Kevin stood atop the pile of matter that was the galaxy, the next he had fallen through the event horizon, becoming the first person to do so.

Outside, in real space, there wasn't much light. The expected glow of countless stars was missing, as those stars no longer existed. Complete darkness surrounded him, except for a dull red line that marked the radiation leakage from the black hole.

Then a light clicked on. A man floated before him, a handheld torch pressed beneath his chin.

'Kevin. You're finally here.'

'Dave?'

'Yes, I'm Dave. Not the Dave you spoke to. That was millions of years ago for us, on our side of the well. But every Supreme Ruler of the Galaxy since then has been called Dave in his honour.'

'I'm free then?'

'Of course. But you'll have to excuse me though. The black hole is so huge now that even I, the last remaining matter in our galaxy, must fall through. Here, take this.'

Dave handed Kevin the torch, then rippled through the event horizon. Kevin was left alone again as the batteries slowly died.

Poetic Retribution From Mars

In a bid to divert attention from its deficiencies, a country sends a world renowned scientist to the moon for a year of make believe research. The troubles with this plan begin when the spaceship, unable to make its moon landing, also fails to make reentry to Earth. After a year of space travel, the ship finally lands. . . on Mars. What the scientist finds, however, is dramatically at odds with what was previously known about this planet. What's more, there is life on Mars, and it's not happy with what it hears about Earth's governance.

The scientist and his crew return from Mars with a dire ultimatum: the Earth must mend its ways to enable an interplanetary discourse to commence. The governments of Earth, however, do not take lightly to spaceborne demands. But in a war of the worlds, does Earth have any chance of survival? A challenging, detailed and introspective novel of the near future. BPB $29.95

The Voyage of the Sable Keech

Sable Keech is a walking dead man, and the only one to have been resurrected by nanochanger. Did he succeed because he was infected by the Spatterjay virus, or because he came late to resurrection in a tank of seawater? Tracing the man's last-known seaborne journey, Taylor Bloc wants to know the truth. He also wants so much else - adulation, power, control - and will go to any lengths to achieve them.

An ancient hive mind, almost incomprehensible to the human race, has sent an agent to this uncertain world. Does it simply want to obtain the poison "sprine" that is crucial to immortality - and, if so, maybe Janer must find it and stop it. Meanwhile, still faced with the ennui of immortality, Erlin has her solitude rudely interrupted by a very angry whelk titanicus, and begins the strangest of journeys. Deep in the ocean the Spatterjay virus has wrought a terrible change that will affect them all. Something dormant for ten years is breaking free, and once again the aftershocks of an ancient war will focus on this watery world. And Sniper, for ten years the Warden of Spatterjay, finally takes delivery of his new drone shell. It's much better than his old one: powerful engines, more lethal weapons, thicker armour. He's going to need them. APB $19.95

Abarat II: Days of Magic, Days of War (Abarat 02)

The Abarat; a magical otherworld composed on an archipelago of twenty-five islands - one for each hour of the day, plus an island out of time. Candy Quackenbush, escaping her dull, dull life from the most boring place in our world, Chickentown, USA, finds that in the Abarat she has another existence entirely, one which links her to marvels and mysteries-and even to murder...

In this, the second volume in Clive Barker's extraordinary fantasy for both adults and children, Candy's adventures in the amazing world of the Abarat are getting more strange by the Hour. Christopher Carrion, the Lord of Midnight, has sent his henchmen to capture her. Why? she wonders. What would Carrion want with a girl from Minnesota? And why is Candy beginning to feel that the world of the Abarat is familiar to her? Why can she speak words of magic she doesn't even remember learning?

There is a mystery here. And Carrion, along with his fiendish grandmother, Mater Motley, suspects that whatever Candy is, she could spoil his plans to take control of the Abarat.

Now Candy's companions must race against time to save her from the clutches of Carrion, and she must solve the mystery of her past before the forces of Night and Day clash and Absolute Midnight descends upon the islands.

A final war is about to begin. And Candy is going to need to make some choices that will change her life forever... APB $19.99

Mark Chadbourn*The Age of Misrule (Age of Misrule omnibus)*

All over the country, the ancient gods of Celtic mythology are returning to the land from which they were banished millennia ago. Following in their footsteps are creatures of folklore: the Fabulous Beasts, shape-shifters and Night Walkers, and other, less wholesome beings. As they grow in power, so technology is swept away. It is myth and magic that now rule supreme in this new Dark Age: The Age of Misrule. The Eternal Conflict between the Light and Dark once again blackens the skies and blights the land. On one side stand the Tuatha de Danann, golden-skinned and beautiful; on the other are the Fomorii, monstrous devils hell-bent on destroying all human existence. But in times of trouble, come heroes. Five flawed humans, Brothers and Sisters of Dragons, are drawn together to search for the magical talismans with which to fight the powers of old. But time draws short and humanity looks set to be swept away. TP $24.95

Christine Feehan

A Christine Feehan Holiday Treasury

Now, her magnificent novellas of dark forces and Christmas magic are brought together for the first time in a stunning hardcover edition. Each one will hold you in its thrall. . . .

After the Music

Terrified by mysterious threats, Jessica Fitzpatrick takes her twin wards to the island mansion of their estranged father, Dillon Wentworth, a famous musician who shut out the world after a fire claimed his wife's life and left him disfigured. With Christmas approaching, the spark between Dillon and Jessica might light the future, but the evil machinations of those who share his late wife's love of the occult may plunge the family into darkness -- unless a Christmas miracle occurs. . . .

The Twilight Before Christmas

Bestselling novelist Kate Drake, one of seven sisters with amazing powers of witchcraft, wants to open a bookstore in a charming but run-down mill in her California hometown. Decorated former U.S. Army Ranger Matt Granite, now a contractor, doesn't mind helping -- and getting closer to Kate. But when an earthquake exposes a crypt in the mill's foundation, a centuries-old evil threatens to destroy both Christmas and the gift of soul-searing passion Kate's hometown hero wants her to keep forever. . . .

Rocky Mountain Miracle

When Cole Steele, a womanizer rumored to have killed his father, meets Maia Armstrong, a veterinarian rumored to practice magic, the sparks that fly could melt all the snow on his Wyoming ranch. And when an injured horse brings them together, Cole can't help but believe that Maia casts spells on animals and men. What else could explain the burning passion he feels for her and the thawing of his heart around the holidays?

Mysterious and magical, like the holiday itself, these novellas reveal Christine Feehan to be a writer of extraordinary gifts. HC $29.95

Alan Dean Foster

Running From the Deity (Flinx 11)

From science fiction legend Alan Dean Foster comes a thrilling new Pip and Flinx adventure, wherein a certain red-haired, green-eyed young man blessed (or cursed) with strange powers finds himself and his mini-dragon sidekick on a top-secret mission concerning deep space, alien worlds... and a primordial horror intent on devouring all of it.

In the outer depths of the universe lies the Great Emptiness, where something dreadful lurks, hidden behind a great gravitational lens of dark matter. Something horrific that howls and writhes and rages across three hundred million light-years of space - and is now heading straight for the Commonwealth and moving faster all the time.

One slim chance exists to avert catastrophe, and only Flinx can take it. Roaming the galaxy is a conscious planet-size weapons system, the legacy of a long-extinct race. As Flinx is the only one who has ever experienced mental contact with the machine, it is his job to find the powerful alien artifact and coax it into joining the battle against the behemoth from beyond.

So Pip and Flinx valiantly sail into the unknown aboard their little spaceship, which is immediately forced down for emergency repairs on planet Arrawd, home to less advanced sentients and therefore off-limits to space travelers. But what with Arrawd being very beautiful, and Flinx being Flinx, this particular rule doesn't stand a chance.

Now, Flinx is no stranger to murderous attacks and stalking assassins - evading them occupies most of his waking hours - but to be besieged by hordes bent on worshipping him as a god? Worse still, escaping this fate is going to be as impossible as fulfilling his dire mission. What's a deity to do? APB $15.95

Trouble Magnet (Flinx 12)

Wandering out there in some remote region of the galaxy is a gargantuan sentient Tar-Aiym weapons' system. All Flinx has to do - while his pals look after his injured love Clarity Held - is find the hefty object and persuade it to knock out the monstrous evil that is hurtling through space to waste the entire Commonwealth.

A no-brainer, really, especially for Flinx, who is never without his loyal entourage of official snoops, crazed zealots, assorted goons, and the occasional assassin. Indeed, the boy wonder and his mini-drag, Pip, are eager to commence their heroic task... just as soon as Flinx visits Visaria - a dangerously depraved planet - to convince himself that humans are indeed worth saving. The chances of stumbling across high moral values and utopian ideals don't look promising - what with Flinx playing a lawless Pied Piper to a gang of lying, thieving juvenile delinquents. But prospects really go south when Flinx runs afoul of the corrupt planet's ruthless crime king. HC $49.95

Alastair Reynolds*Zima Blue and other Stories*

Despite the fact that Alastair Reynolds has published fiction in professional venues since 1990, with over thirty stories now in print, and has published six novels, two of which were nominated for the Arthur C. Clarke Award, and one of which (Chasm City) won the British Science Fiction Association Award, this is his very first short fiction collection.

It spans almost the whole of his career, ranging from "Enola" (which appeared in 1991, only his third sale) right up to recent work such as "Understanding Space and Time," a novella written in 2005, and "Signal to Noise," a new piece written specially for this book. It is the perfect showcase for the evolution of his writing and themes over the last sixteen years, and features extensive story notes.

Since 2000, Reynolds has been publishing large novels at a rate of one a year, all but two of them are set against a consistent background known as the Revelation Space universe. The stories in "Zima Blue," however, while occasionally related to each other, do not partake of that claustrophobic, machine-haunted history. They represent a more optimistic take on humanity's future, a view that says there may be wars, there may be catastrophes and cosmic errors, but something human will still survive. HC $54.95

Missile Gap

It's 1976 again. Abba are on the charts, the Cold War is in full swing -- and the Earth is flat. It's been flat ever since the eve of the Cuban war of 1962; and the constellations overhead are all wrong. Beyond the Boreal ocean, strange new continents loom above tropical seas, offering a new start to colonists like newly-weds Maddy and Bob, and the hope of further glory to explorers like ex-cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin: but nobody knows why they exist, and outside the circle of exploration the universe is inexplicably warped.

Gregor, in Washington DC, knows but isn't talking. Colonel-General Gagarin, on a years-long mission to go where New Soviet Man has not gone before, is going to find out. And on the edge of an ancient desert, beneath the aged stars of another galaxy, Maddy is about to come face-to-face with humanity's worst fear. 1000 copies only. HC $70

The Jennifer Morgue (Laundry 02)

When he's not trying to save the world from unearthly horrors, Bob Howard — an agent for the British supersecret organization known simply as The Laundry — has time sheets to complete and field liaison meetings to attend. (And don't get Bob started on how much he despises corporate PowerPoint presentations!)

In 1975, the CIA made an ill-fated attempt to raise a sunken Soviet ballistic missile submarine from the depths of the Pacific Ocean. At least, "ill-fated" was the information leaked to the press. In reality, the team salvaged a device, codenamed "Gravedust," that permitted communication with the dead — the very long dead. Enter Ellis Billington, glamorous software billionaire, who has acquired Gravedust by devious means. Billington plans to raise an eldritch horror, codenamed "Jennifer Morgue," from the vasty deeps, and communicate with this dead warrior for the purpose of ruling the world. Worse still, he's prepared occult defenses that can only be penetrated by one agent walking a perilous path.

But James Bond doesn't work for the Laundry. Instead, they send Bob Howard, geekish demonology hacker extraordinaire. Bob must inveigle his way aboard Billington's yacht, figure out what the villain is up to, and stop him. But there's a fly in Bob's ointment by the name of Ramona Random — a lethal but beautiful agent for the Black Chamber, the U.S. counterpart to The Laundry. Billington's yacht is docked in the Caribbean, and Her Majesty's Government is not allowed to operate in this area without an American minder. The Black Chamber has sent Ramona to ride shotgun on Bob, but Ramona has her own agenda that conflicts with her employer's . . .

Bob and Ramona become entangled (literally), and are then captured by Billington and used to further his insidious plot. But let's not forget Bob's significant other, Dr. Dominique "Mo" O'Brien, also an agent of The Laundry, who has been trained especially for this mission. Can these intrepid agents stop Billington from raising the dead horror and thus save the world from total domination? The Jennifer Morgue takes the reader on a wild adventure through the worlds of Lovecraft and Ian Fleming, non-Euclidian mathematics and computer hackerdom — sort of like Austin Powers, only more squamous and rugose — with fast cars and faster women.

In addition to the novel-length The Jennifer Morgue, this volume also includes an added bonus story, "Pimpf," featuring agent Bob Howard in the world of virtual gaming, along with a thought-provoking Afterword entitled "The Golden Age of Spying." HC $52.95

J R R Tolkien

Letters From Father Christmas

Every December an envelope bearing a stamp from the North Pole would arrive for J.R.R.Tolkien's children. Inside would be a letter in strange spidery handwriting and a beautiful coloured drawing or some sketches. The letters were from Father Christmas. They told wonderful tales of life at the North Pole: how all the reindeer got loose and scattered presents all over the place; how the accident-prone Polar Bear climbed the North Pole and fell through the roof of Father Christmas's house into the dining-room; how he broke the Moon into four pieces and made the Man in it fall into the back garden; how there were wars with the troublesome horde of goblins who lived in the caves beneath the house! Sometimes the Polar Bear would scrawl a note, and sometimes Ilbereth the Elf would write in his elegant flowing script, adding yet more life and humour to the stories. No reader, young or old, can fail to be charmed by the inventiveness and 'authenticity' of Tolkien's Letters from Father Christmas. 'Letters from Father Christmas' has been reformatted into an attractive and affordable new paperback format, with the inclusion of every one of the delightful letters and pictures that Tolkien sent to his children. HC $24.99

Fairest

I was born singing. Most babies cry. I sang an aria.

Or so I believe. I have no one to tell me the truth of it. I was abandoned when I was a month old, left at the Featherbed Inn in the Ayorthaian village of Amonta. It was January 12th of the year of Thunder Songs.

The fairy Lucinda has once again given a dreadful gift. This time it's a mysterious magical mirror.

The gift is disastrous when it falls into the hands of Aza, who never looks in a mirror if she can help it. In the Kingdom of Ayortha, Aza is most definitely not the fairest of them all. Many spurn her. Many scoff at her. She keeps out of sight.

But in a land of singers, Aza has her own gift, one she's come by without fairy intervention: a voice that can do almost anything, a voice that captivates all who hear it. In Ontio Castle, merry Prince Ijori is drawn to it, and vain Queen Ivi wants to use it for her own ends. Queen Ivi would do anything to remain the fairest in the land.

In this spellbinding tale filled with humor, adventure, romance, and song, Newbery Honor author Gail Carson Levine invites you to join Aza as she discovers how exquisite she truly is. HC $24.99

The Dead Days Omnibus

The days between 27 December and New Year's Eve are dead days, when spirits roam and magic shifts restlessly just beneath the surface of our everyday lives. There is a man, Valerian, whose time is running out, who must pay the price for the pact he made with evil so many years ago. His servant is Boy, a child with no name and no past; a child he treats with contempt, but who serves his master well and finds solace in the company of his only friend, Willow. Unknown to any of them it is Boy who holds the key to their destiny. But before that is revealed, Boy and Willow are held captive in the palace of the Emperor Frederick. Here they are plunged into a world of gilded finery and splendour. Beneath the golden veneer lies cruelty and madness. They are in terrible danger as they confront the whirlwind furies of the Emperor, the calculating ambitions of his confidante, Maxim, and follow a trail which will lead them to the murderous Phantom. HC $24.95

Films of Tim Burton

Alison McMahan

Most Tim Burton films are huge boxoffice successes, and several are already classics. The director's mysterious and eccentric public persona attracts a lot of attention, while the films themselves have been somewhat overlooked. Here, Alison McMahan redresses this imbalance through a close analysis of Burton's key films (Beetlejuice, Ed Wood, Batman, Edward Scissorhands, Sleepy Hollow) and their industrial context. She argues that Burton has been a crucial figure behind many of the transformations taking place in horror, fantasy, and scifi films over the last two decades, and demonstrates how his own work draws on a huge range of artistic influences: the films of Georges Melies, surrealism, installation art, computer games, and many more. The Films of Tim Burton is the most in-depth analysis so far of the work of this unusual filmmaker a director who has shown repeatedly that it is possible to reject mainstream Hollywood conventions while maintaining critical popularity and commercial success HC $165

Horror

James Marriott

Horror is one of the most popular and influential genres in cinema, a perennial favourite that just won't stay dead.

But a genre as enduring and wide-ranging as horror is full of neglected gems and big-budget duds, and the increased availability of genre material from countries as far afield as Japan and Brazil has meant that experimenting with unseen films has become something of a minefield. That's where this book comes in: here a team of seasoned, top horror experts lead the way through a century of fear with authority, humour and encyclopedic knowledge.

Packed with photographs of the most terrifying scenes in cinema history, this unique, definitive, comprehensive guide traces the story of horror, decade-by-decade, and provides a witty and informative critique of over 200 films from all over the world, plus any TV series and literature that informed them, offering a superb introduction for beginners as well as something new for the die-hard horror fan. HC $60

Billie Autobiography

Billie Piper

Includes 60 colour photos (4 plate sections). I'm in the process of writing my first book due for release this Christmas. It may sound ridiculous being just 23 but I've a few good stories I'd like to share. I'm hoping the book will be honest, funny, insightful and above all life affirming. This is a chance for me to talk openly about other areas of my life. Things that people won't know. Things that I'm hoping lots of people can relate to and maybe even be inspired by.' From her childhood in Swindon to the nation's 'Most Popular Actress', via a pop career and a Las Vegas marriage to Chris Evans, this memoir will be an astonishingly candid insight into the world of Billie Piper. Famous since the age of 15 - first as the face of Smash Hits, then as a pop singer with seven top five singles (including three No.1s) in less than three years - Billie Piper has won over the critics and the British public for a second time by re-inventing herself as an actress in BBC productions. TP $35

DAY OF THE DRAGON: A terrifying upheaval among the highest ranks of the world's Wizards sends the maverick Mage, Rhonin, on a perilous journey into the Orc-controlled lands of Khaz Modan. What Rhonin uncovers is a vast, far-reaching conspiracy, darker than anything he ever imagined -- a threat that will force him into a dangerous alliance with ancient creatures of air and fire if the world of Azeroth is to see another dawn.

LORD OF THE CLANS: Slave and Gladiator. Shaman and Warchief. The enigmatic Orc known as Thrall has been all of these. Raised from infancy by cruel human masters who sought to mold him into their perfect pawn, Thrall was driven by both the savagery in his heart and the cunning of his upbringing to pursue a destiny he was only beginning to understand -- to break his bondage and rediscover the ancient traditions of his people. Now the tumultuous tale of his life's journey -- a saga of honor, hatred, and hope -- can at last be told.

THE LAST GUARDIAN: The Guardians of Tirisfal were a line of champions imbued with godlike powers, each one through the ages charged with fighting a lonely secret war against the Burning Legion. Medivh was fated from birth to become the greatest and most powerful of this noble order. But from the beginning a darkness tainted him, corrupting his soul and turning to evil the powers that should have fought for good. Medivh's struggle against the malice within him became one with the fate of Azeroth itself...and changed the world forever.

OF BLOOD AND HONOR: The paladin Tirion Fordring had always believed the Orcs were vile and corrupt, but an unexpected act of honor and compassion sets in motion a chain of events that will challenge his most fundamental beliefs and force him to decide, once and for all, who are the men...and who are the monsters. TP $19.95

Campaign Workbook

A great GM is always thinking about his campaign, scribbling down a note about a cruel trick to play on his players in one notebook while composing diabolical dungeons in another. Instead, we suggest the Campaign Workbook, a handsome leatherette-bound campaign journal small enough to carry with you at all times but big enough to handle all your campaign planning needs.

The Campaign Workbook includes a campaign calendar to track game events, character birthdays, and important holidays. Blank globe templates allow you to sketch out your campaign world from sea to shining sea. An address book keeps all your players' addresses and phone numbers in one handy place, and a similar registry helps you keep track of the characters' key skill bonuses and combat information. An alphabetical NPC list tracks key characters and provides a handy place to take notes when things change during the course of play. Lastly, we've loaded the book with more than 100 pages of graph paper, so you can design your deadly dungeons in the same place you track your characters' experience points. HC $26

Hallowed Ground

Grisly murders are rocking the small county of Bear Butte where Julie Collins has spent the last few months learning the PI biz without the guidance of her best friend and business partner, Kevin Wells. Enter dangerous, charismatic entrepreneur Tony Martinez, who convinces Julie to take a case involving a missing five-year-old Native American girl, the innocent pawn in her parents' child custody dispute. Although skeptical about Martinez' motives in hiring her, and confused by her strange attraction to him, Julie nevertheless sees the opportunity to hone her investigative skills outside her office.

But something about the case doesn't ring true. The girl's father is foreman on the controversial new Indian casino under construction at the base of the sacred Mato Paha, and the girl's mother is secretly working for a rival casino rumored to have ties to an east coast crime family. Local ranchers - including her father - a Lakota Holy group, and casino owners from nearby Deadwood are determined to stop the gaming facility from opening.

With the body count rising, the odds are stacked against Julie to discover the truth behind these hidden agendas before the murderer buries it forever. And when Julie unwittingly attracts the attention of the killer, she realizes no place is safe ... not even hallowed ground. APB $17.95

Santa Cruise

Alvirah Meehan, the lottery winner turned amateur sleuth; her husband, Willy; recently hitched private detective Regan Reilly and her groom, Jack, head of the NYPD Major Case Squad; and Regan's parents, Nora and Luke, are guests on the Royal Mermaid's maiden voyage, the Santa Cruise. The cruise is Commodore Randolph Weed's gift to a select group of people who in the last year "made the world a better place." What he really wants is good publicity that will generate future bookings for his struggling new venture. He also plans to scatter his beloved mother's ashes at sea during this four-day odyssey in the Caribbean. What he doesn't know is that his ne'er-do-well nephew, Eric, has smuggled two escaping criminals on board. Alvirah won the cruise at a charity auction and persuaded the Reillys to accompany her and Willy. Other passengers include members of the Oklahoma Readers and Writers group, who volunteer their time teaching people to read. The group is planning a mystery seminar dedicated to a Ghost of Honor, the late Left Hook Louie, a champion prizefighter turned bestselling author. There are also ten men on board who had donated their time playing Santa Claus during the holiday season as well as assorted other charitable folk, all planning on a restful post-Christmas vacation. The hoped-for tranquility soon vanishes. A terrified mystery fan swears she has spotted the Ghost of Honor in the ship's chapel. Two Santa suits disappear from a locked supply room. A storm develops, and in the infirmary an attempt is made on the life of a seemingly feeble passenger. Back in Miami, a TV reporter is turning the cruise into a public-relations nightmare, thanks to her spies on the ship. Sharpe's Fury (Sharpe)

In the winter of 1811 the war seemed lost. All Spain has fallen to the French, except for Cadiz which is now the Spanish capital and is under siege. Wellington and his British army are in Portugal, waiting for spring to spark the war to life again.

Richard Sharpe and his company are part of a small expeditionary force sent to break a bridge across the River Guadiana. What begins as a brilliant piece of soldiering turns into disaster, thanks to the brutal savagery of the French Colonel Vandal who is leading his battalion to join the siege of Cadiz. Sharpe extricates a handful of men from the debacle and is driven south into the threatened city.

There, in Cadiz, he discovers more than one enemy. Many Spaniards doubt Britain's motives and believe their future would be brighter if they made peace with the French, and one of them, a baleful priest, secures a powerful weapon to break the British alliance. He will use a beautiful whore and the letters she received from a wealthy man. The priest will use blackmail, and Sharpe must defeat him in a sinister war of knife and treachery in the dark alleys of the city.

Yet the alliance will only survive if the French siege can be lifted. An allied army marches from the city to take on the more powerful French and, once again, a brilliant piece of soldiering turns into disaster, this time because the Spanish refuse to fight. A small British force is trapped by a French army, and the only hope now lies with the outnumbered redcoats who, on a hill beside the sea, refuse to admit defeat. And there, in the sweltering horror of Barossa, Sharpe finds Colonel Vandal again.

Sharpe's Fury is based on the real events of the winter of 1811 that led to the extraordinary victory of Barossa, the battle which saw the British capture the first French eagle of the Napoleonic Wars. TP $32.99

The Undertow

Frank Parker, retired senior policeman and Cliff Hardy's long time friend, has a problem. A case from early in his career involving two doctors, one of whom was convicted of hiring a hit man to kill the other and went to gaol for the crime, is coming back to haunt him. The convicted, now dead doctor may have been innocent, and Parker had been the lover of the beautiful Catherine Castiglione, the doctor's wife. Hardy tracks back through the now ageing names and faces, trying to tease out the truth. If the doctor was set up, who was responsible and why? Along the way Hardy encounters dodgy plastic surgeons, a broken-down ex-copper, a voyeuristic cripple and a hireling who wields a mean baseball bat. A charismatic player is the son of Catherine Castiglione, a super-bright charmer, who just may be Frank Parker's love child. Animosity, arrogance and ambition create a spider's web around the violence that breaks out as Hardy searches for the spider. PB $19.95

At the urgent plea of his old friend, Commander Buchanan of Scotland Yard, Tweed, once ace detective, now Deputy Chief SIS, visits Mrs Bella Main, formidable matriarch controlling the Main Chance, the most powerful private bank in Europe. Bella tells Tweed and Paula Grey, his assistant, that she has refused an enormous offer from Calouste Gubenkian, the most ruthless and villainous man in Europe. Within days of their visit Bella is murdered.

Tweed and Paula return to investigate the atrocious act. The bank's HQ is based in a huge Elizabethan manor hidden in The Forest, a vast area in the deep south of England. Tweed has already met members of the two families, run by their forefathers for generations. Was Bella murdered by one of them - or is it the work of the vicious Calouste?

The movement never stops, changing to Calouste's Chateau Les Rochers in the Belgian Ardennes. A ferocious battle takes place. Two more murders are committed at the manor. Tweed and Paula race to tiny Seacove on the rugged Cornish coast to prevent another murder. Finally, Tweed proves the Bank, founded in 1912, was based on a brutal crime all those years ago. APB $18.95

Michael Jecks*Death Ship of Dartmouth*

Another fascinating murder mystery from 14th century Devon. When a body is found lying in the road, many in Dartmouth assume that a drunk had fallen and killed himself. At the same time, the town is on alert because a ship has been found ravaged by pirates out at sea, the crew killed or captured. Is this the beginning of a new onslaught by pirates, or is something more sinister happening? Sir Baldwin de Furnhill has been told of spies and messengers being sent to the great traitor Roger Mortimer in France. If the messengers reach Mortimer, civil war in England will soon break out. This is the most important investigation of their lives: it could result in their own execution if they fail to learn the facts. But if they succeed, other men will want them silenced forever. APB $19.95

Sarah Rayne*Spider Light*

"The dangerous thing about spider light is that it hides things -- things you never knew existed. But once you have seen those things, you can never afterwards forget them..."

Antonia Weston has come to the sleepy market town of Amberwood in search of peace and anonymity after a shattering and all-too-public tragedy in her life. But shortly after her arrival, a series of disturbing incidents occur -- incidents that eerily echo a past she is trying to forget.

As Antonia struggles to re-build her life, she becomes increasingly fascinated by the macabre history surrounding her: the disused watermill, Twygrist, with its brooding darkness, and the now-vanished Latchkill Asylum. Memories of Latchkill still linger: memories of how, when the autumn dusk -- the 'spider-light' -- fell, no one would dare walk past its gates. Because a hundred years ago, people lost their identities inside Latchkill's walls. People such as the innocent Maud Lincoln, jolted out of that innocence by a brutal plot.

But Antonia's fascination with the linked histories of Latchkill and Twygrist has alerted someone from her own past. Someone who knows all about Twygrist's darkness. Someone prepared to use that knowledge in the most horrific way... TP $29.95

Nicholas Sparks*At First Sight*

There are few things Jeremy Marsh was sure he'd never do: he'd never leave New York City: never give his heart away again after barely surviving one failed marriage: and most of all, never become a parent.

Now, Jeremy is living in the tiny town of Boone Creek, North Carolina, married to Lexie Darnell, the love of his life, and anticipating the birth of their daughter. But just as his life seems to be settling into a blissful pattern, an unsettling and mysterious message re-opens old wounds and sets off a chain of events that will forever change the course of this young couple's marriage . . . APB $19.95

A Bend in the Road

Miles Ryan's life seemed to end the day his wife was killed in a hit-and-run accident two years ago. As a deputy sheriff in the North Carolina town of New Bern, he not only grieves for Missy, but longs to bring the unknown driver to justice. Then Miles meets Sarah Andrew.

The second-grade teacher of his son, Jonah, Sarah had left Baltimore after a difficult divorce to start over in the gentler surroundings of New Bern. Perhaps it is her own emotional wounds that make her sensitive to the hurt she sees first in Jonah's eyes and then in his father's. Tentatively, Sarah and Miles reach out to each other. Soon they are both laughing for the first time in years . . . and falling in love.

Neither will be able to guess how closely linked they are to a shocking secret -- one that will force them to question everything they ever believed in . . . and make a heartbreaking choice that will change their lives for ever. APB $19.95

The Guardian

Julie Barenson's young husband left her two unexpected gifts before he died - a puppy named Singer and the promise that he would always be watching over her. Now, four years later, twenty-nine-year-old Julie is far too young to have given up on love. She may be ready to risk caring for someone again. But who?

Should it be Richard Franklin, the sophisticated, handsome engineer who treats her like a queen? Or Mike Harris, the down-to-earth nice guy who was her husband's best friend? Choosing one of them should bring her more happiness than she's had in year. Instead, Julie is soon fighting for her life in a nightmare spawned by a chilling deception and a jealousy so poisonous that it has become a murderous desire . . . APB $19.95

Nights in Rodanthe

At forty-five, Adrienne Willis must rethink her entire life when her husband abandons her for a younger woman. Reeling with heartache and in search of a respite, she flees to the small coastal town of Rodanthe, North Carolina, to tend to a friend's inn for the weekend. But when a major storm starts moving in, it appears that Adrienne's perfect getaway will be ruined -- until a guest named Paul Flanner arrives. Paul has just sold his medical practice and comes to Rodanthe to escape his own shattered past. Now, with the storm closing in, two wounded people will turn to each other for comfort -- and in one weekend, set in motion feelings that will resonate throughout the rest of their lives. APB $19.95

The Notebook

Set amid the austere beauty of the North Carolina coast, The Notebook begins with the story of Noah Calhoun, a rural Southerner recently returned from the Second World War. Noah is restoring a plantation home to its former glory, and he is haunted by images of the beautiful girl he met fourteen years earlier, a girl he loved like no other. Unable to find her, yet unwilling to forget the summer they spent together, Noah is content to live with only memories . . . until she unexpectedly returns to his town to see him once again.

Like a puzzle within a puzzle, the story of Noah and Allie is just the beginning. As it unfolds, their tale miraculously becomes something different, with much higher stakes. The result is a deeply moving portrait of love itself, the tender moments and the fundamental changes that affect us all. It is a story of miracles and emotions that will stay with you forever. APB $19.95

The Rescue

When confronted by raging fires or deadly accidents, volunteer fireman Taylor McAden feels compelled to take terrifying risks -- risks no-one else in the department would ever take -- to save lives. But there is one leap of faith Taylor cannot bring himself to make. He cannot fall in love. For all his adult years, Taylor has sought out women who need to be rescued, women he leaves as soon as their crisis is over, as soon as the relationship starts to become truly intimate.

Then, one day, a raging, record-breaking storm hits his small Southern town. Denise Hilton, a young single mother, is driving through it when her car skids off the road. With her is her four-year-old son, Kyle, a boy with severe learning disabilities for whom she has sacrificed everything. Taylor finds her unconscious and bleeding, but when she wakes, the chilling truth is clear: Kyle is gone.

During the search for Kyle, a connection between Taylor and Denise takes root. APB $19.95

True Believer

Jeremy Marsh, a science journalist and debunker from New York, has set his sights on finding the real reasons behind the mysterious lights that appear in an ancient southern cemetery, and he heads to the tiny town of Boone Creek, North Carolina, in search of the truth.

Sceptical by nature, he comes face to face with Lexie Darnell, the town's librarian, and as he slowly finds the answers he's looking for, he gradually begins to understand that science can only go so far when it comes to unravelling the mysteries of the human heart.

Part love story, part ghost story, True Believer makes us believe in the impossible, trust in fate, and the undeniable power of love . . . APB $19.95

A Walk to Remember

The last person Landon thought he would fall for was Jamie Sullivan, daughter of the town's Baptist minister. A quiet girl, Jamie seemed content living in a world apart from the other teens. She took care of her widowed father, rescued hurt animals and volunteered at the local orphanage.

Landon would never have dreamed of asking her out, but a twist of fate threw them together when he found himself without a partner for the school dance. In the months that followed, Landon discovered truths that most people take a lifetime to learn - about the joy of giving, the pain of loss and, most of all, the transforming nature of love. Being with Jamie would show him the depths of the human heart and lead him to a decision so stunning it would send him irrevocably on the road to manhood . . . APB $19.95

The Wedding

After more than 20 years of marriage, Wilson Lewis, son-in-law of Allie and Noah Calhoun (of THE NOTEBOOK) is forced to admit that the romance has gone out of his marriage. Desperate to win back his wife Jane's heart, he must figure out how to make her fall in love with him . . . again. Despite the shining example of Allie and Noah's marriage, Wilson is himself a man unable to easily express his emotions. A successful tax attorney, he has provided well for his family, but now, with his daughter's upcoming wedding and an impending empty nest, he is forced to face the fact that he and Jane have grown apart and he wonders if she even loves him anymore. Wilson is sure of one thing - his love for his wife has only deepened and intensified over the years.
