Infinitas Newsletter Volume 16 No 1

January 2007

Author Signing 1

Alastair Reynolds

On Saturday 6th January, Infinitas hosted Alastair Reynolds. While the 2 publicity minders from Hachette Livre, his publisher, were trying to promote his 2 new releases, Alastair preferred to talk about his forthcoming novels, The Prefect (coming in June) and its sequel. Tim asked for the title of the as yet unwritten sequel, and Alastair answered "Orbit of Ghosts". This surprised the publishers and his wife Josette, who said even she had been unable to get this out of him. Fans will be pleased to hear there are these 2 Revelation Space novels yet to come, which are crime stories set in the Glitter Band of Yellowstone.

Infinitas now has some signed copies of Alastair's books, which are generally hard science fiction space operas, epic in scale, where space is dangerous and the stories are around the scientists trying to survive.

American Gods by Neil Gaiman reviewed by Adam Bales

<http://www.infinitas.com.au/Product.php?bar=9780755322817>

"American Gods" is a mythological fantasy that deals with the plights of the old gods as they struggle to survive in a modern America that has too little belief to share around.

Shadow, an ex-convict, is hired by the mysterious Mr. Wednesday and soon becomes entwined in a battle between the old gods and the new (including media and the internet). Shadow, who is trying to deal with the death of his wife, is new to this world of magic and struggles to adapt. His task is only made harder by the fact that no-one is who they seem.

Gaiman creates a thrilling tapestry which weaves elements of mythology into a wonderful modern fable. "American Gods" has a similar feeling to Robert Zelazny's "Lord of Light", although Gaiman does not manage to capture Zelazny's sparse style, and at times his book seems to wander.

"American Gods" is a good read for those who enjoy fantasy which steps away from some of the clichés of the genre and which grabs you and refuses to let you go until you reach the end.

Galactic North* by Alastair Reynolds, reviewed by Tim

<http://www.infinitas.com.au/Product.php?bar=9780575079113>

This is a collection of 8 short stories / novellas all set in the Revelation Space/ Inhibitor universe of Reynolds' series, with his interesting afterword, filling 343 pages to novel length. The stories cover war, crime, espionage and epic genres. The book title is the title of the final story. Curiously, both the trade paperback and hardcover Galactic North list his series out of order. In his afterword, Reynolds acknowledges these short stories do not neatly fit into the plot and timeline of the series.

Until recently Reynolds worked with the European Space Agency, and he unashamedly peppers science into his storytelling. He writes hard science fiction, space opera where the universe is a cold lonely unfriendly place, and the light speed barrier is absolute. Humans may colonise the stars, re-engineer their bodies and create new species, but we would be wise to keep a low profile lest we get noticed by aliens. Themes and style are not dissimilar in various ways to Stephen Baxter, Isaac Asimov, Jack McDevitt and Arthur C Clarke. Characters are scientists, technicians, soldiers, colonists, politicians and capitalists. The stories are about space, not soap opera. Still, there are stories in the relationships and commitments between characters, but like them, the plots are task orientated and linear. The reader is led to want to know what happens next, why and how without too many sub plots or tangents. This is intrinsic to well written short stories, but typical of his whole series.

This collection gives background to Clavain, and to a lesser extent Remontoire, two of my favourite characters from Revelation Space. Readers of the series will find this pleasurable, supplementary material, uninitiated readers will get a taste of Reynolds' universe, finding the stories stand alone well. This is a stronger book than Diamond Dogs, Turquoise Days, another tangent to Revelation Space.

Some short story collections disappoint due to the good story ending too soon, to be replaced with something less. This does not happen here. This collection satisfies, as all are by one author, set within one universe. I enjoyed each of the stories, even where the lead characters were unattractive, which indicates Reynolds' level of skill.

Old Man's War* by John Scalzi, reviewed by Dan

<http://www.infinitas.com.au/Product.php?bar=9780765348272>

Old Man's War is military space opera on the surface. However, the focus is not on the details of fighting or the political plots and intrigue, but more about the personal issues that the combatants are facing. There are strong moral and ethical issues raised, and the themes of friendship and family as motivators.

Earth has managed to colonise other planets, but, for a number of reasons, the population of Earth is quarantined from the rest of the galaxy. You can choose to leave, either as a colonist, from one of the overpopulated countries, or as a recruit for the Colonial Defense Forces, but you can't ever return to Earth. The competition for colony worlds is strong between the different alien species, and so the CDF has a strong recruitment policy. The catch is, they only take you once you reach 75. The CDF wants people who have a lifetime of experience and maturity, not gung-ho teenagers. They can make you young again, so physical age is not a drawback.

John Perry and his wife made the decision to join the CDF when they reached 60. Kathy died before she could ship out, but John carried through with his enlistment after a last visit to her grave. The book follows John's journey from when he leaves Earth, to the completion of his front line service. Throughout this time, we see him make new friends and lose them, and meet enemies. We see him deal with his conflicts of fighting wars with the competing or native species for the right to colonise worlds.

I thoroughly enjoyed this book, and I'm looking forward to reading the sequel, Ghost Brigades. Fans of Elizabeth Moon's Vatta War and Serrano Legacy, as well as John Ringo's Posleen, David Weber's Honor Harrington and Elizabeth Bear's Jenny Casey books should enjoy this novel.

POIP's

by Sarah G Williams

The Banshee scream of the alert broke the peaceful silence in the control tower. Speakers bouncing the piercing sound off the walls in the executive office. The General snorted awake and glanced sleepily around his lavish surroundings with annoyance. He snarled, smashing his palm on the communication button on the right of his massive desk. He prodded an additional button and activated the speakerphone, screaming "Report!"

"The natives have escaped again." A high squeaking voice proclaimed.

"I told you last time, to make sure we locked them all in tight, or the least try something different to motivate them to stay." The General's voice growled dangerously low.

"We tried General; we punished all those left behind. We starved them, whipped them, threatened their wives and children, but the POIP's won't stop trying."

"Don't tell me you admire them?" The General said, detecting an odd note in the officer's voice.

"No no Sir." The voice stammered, confidence waving. "Like our holy book says; they are inferior; they have no common goals; they can't even work out God's real name. They deserve to be slaves."

"I'm glad you're still on our side officer." The General barked. "Now find them before they escape over the fence again."

"Yes Sir." He yelped back.

The General slumped in his comfortable chair. It squealed in protest as he spun his heavy weight back and forth, generous jowls wobbling with laughter. He remembered the days of shaking in his boots for his superiors. Heck, he still did that, just with less, but more important people. His chuckling stopped as he came back to the matter at hand.

"Yet another escape?" He muttered disbelievingly. It was getting ridiculous, escape attempts were becoming a habit for the People Of Indigenoussness Persuasion. For such a race that did menial labour so well, they were slow to learn reality. They were enslaved because they were too weak to win the war.

He would need to find a more effective method of discouraging their escape attempts, or at this rate his workforce would slowly decline and so would his delivery quota. He always thought clearer after a power nap, so he snoozed for a little while, drool dripping down his chin and splashing on his uniform.

"Sir!" A panicked voice yelled over the comm.

"They're in the Solar Thermo Reactor Core!"

"What?" The General exploded from his chair and looked through the window to the sprawling complex, with all the white domes that were chained by walkways and buildings to the smoking reactor stacks. "Why aren't they running for the fences like every other time?" he yelled shrilly.

"They're gonna blow it, they have a bomb!"

"Fools!" He said. "The reaction will kill everyone in the compound except... The prison camp protected by the mountain. Damn!"

The Comm fizzled out into silence at the same time the reactor exploded. The General watched as the reaction rumbled up the walkways, staccato blasts punctuating each dome's destruction and shaking the control tower building walls. The explosion ate its way on, closing in on the tower. Cries of surprise echoed in his bulbous hind brain as each of his soldier's life sparks were subdued, their consciousness transmitting like shooting stars into the sky.

The General folded his green and sore encrusted hands across his chest, and turned away from the window, the explosions almost on him. "Damn humans." He hissed. The loss of this many cloning pods was going to be difficult to explain to his superiors, but on the bright-side, he thought, pulling a fold of skin away from his body, his current body was falling to bits.

His consciousness burst up as he died and floated briefly over the fiery landscape before heading out to space. His last thought was that he hoped the transmission to the father-ship, and the morph with the new body would be less painful than last time.

Expand your mind, Enter new worlds.

Robert Asprin

Asprin Wars

In the late '70s, Robert Asprin brought us three unique novels of war, reprinted here for the first time in one volume:

The Cold Cash War tells of a very different kind of corporate war--one fought with trained mercenary armies!

The Bug Wars is a novel of alien warfare waged between the Tzen-fierce warriors and master strategists (and reptiles)--and their Enemy-savage conquerers and brilliant technicians (and insects). Can the Tzen defend themselves and their world from a swarm of winged invaders?

In Tambu, we meet the mysterious figure who has long held the settled planets in his reign of terror through the fleet of pirates under his command. Now, for the first time, the legendary warlord has granted a reporter an interview. The truth will finally be known about Tambu's origin and power. .

.that is, as long as the reporter is allowed to leave alive with his story!

As a very special feature, also included in this volume will be Cold Cash Warrior, a roleplaying novel (sort of a more detailed version of the "choose your own adventure" books) based on The Cold Cash War that was original published in 1989. TP $40.95

Hydrogen Steel

When retired top homicide inspector Zette McGee, late of Winter City, Ganymede, gets called out of her mysterious retirement to help Kell Fallow, a desperate former android accused unjustly of murdering his wife and children, she knows she has to help him, for Zette has a secret she is desperate to keep, and Fallow knows all about it.

With the help of her best friend, the elderly but very suave former secret agent Gideon Smith, and his ridiculously impressive personal starship, the Seemed Like a Good Idea at the Time, Zette sets out (a) to help the accused man, but also (b) to keep Gideon from finding out her own awful secret, even as everything they learn in the investigation keeps pointing to it.

But when Kell Fallow is killed by a bomb he didn't know was buried in his guts, and when a homebrew android identical to Zette destroys her home on the luxurious Serendipity habitat, Gideon and Zette go on the run, only to run afoul of sabotage, spies, nasty infections, and bad guys galore and ordinary machines come to relentless, murderous life.

The case will take Zette and Gideon on a terrifying journey into the darkest reaches of human space, in pursuit of an ancient truth -- and will bring her into deadly contact with that truth's keeper, the awesomely powerful firemind, Hydrogen Steel, an artificial consciousness evolved far beyond its original design, and which is utterly determined to keep that same truth from getting out, at any cost. TP $30.95

George R R Martin*A Feast For Crows (Song of Ice and Fire 04)*

A Feast for Crows brings to life dark magic, intrigue and terrible bloodshed as the war-torn landscape of the Seven Kingdoms is threatened by destruction as vast as any in its violent past. The War of the Five Kings has ripped Westeros apart. The bloodthirsty, treacherous and cunning Lannisters occupy the Iron Throne, with allies as ruthless as themselves. Lord Frey was host at the Red Wedding, so called for the massacre of the guests, their screams unheard above the music of the feast. Euron Crow's Eye is as black a pirate as ever raised a sail, sworn to deliver the whole of Westeros to the ironborn. No less to be feared are their enemies. The Starks of Winterfell and the Martells of Dorne seek vengeance for their dead. And the last of the Targaryens, Daenerys Stormborn, will bring fire and blood to King's Landing when her young dragons reach their terrifying maturity. The last war fought with dragons was a cataclysm powerful enough to shatter the Valyrian peninsula, now a smoking, demon-haunted ruin half drowned by the sea. Against a backdrop of alchemy and murder, victory may go to the men and women possessed of the coldest steel . . . and the coldest hearts. APB $20.99

Anne McCaffrey & Elizabeth Ann Scarborough*Maelstrom (Twins of Petaybee 02)*

The Shongili twins, Ronan and Murel, accompany their friend Marmie on her luxury space craft Pif to rescue their friend Ke-ola's family from an uninhabitable planet. They arrive to find the planet in the midst of a terrible meteor storm and when they go down to the surface find that the survivors have taken refuge under ground. Ronan and Murel change into seal form and find the survivors and their totem animals or aumakua, the giant turtles, or Honu, and the sharks.

Back on Petaybee the twins, in their seal form, escort the Honu to their new home in the middle of the ocean. They also want to warn the otters and seals about the sharks. It is a long journey and Murel falls asleep and gets separated from the rest. She is surrounded by a pod of Orcas who, thinking she is a normal seal, try to eat her. Before they can do so she is caught up in a whirlpool caused by the volcanic activity in the area, as is Ronan, who had swum back to try to rescue her.

They are rescued from the whirlpool by the mysterious deep sea otters and taken into their shielded city on the ocean floor. While their leader, Kushtaka, is talking to them her son Jeel sees the sharks and goes to inspect them, Murel races after him but is too late and Jeel is killed.

Meanwhile Marmie and her crew are arrested on trumped up charges of kidnapping Ke-ola's family and taken to Gwinnett Incarceration Colony, along with most of the survivors they rescued.

When Murel and Ronan return to their family and discover that Marmie has been arrested and the Pif impounded they realize they need to get off the planet and go to her rescue. While staying with Kushtaka they were told that the deep sea otters were not just otters but beings from outer space who had hidden in the depths of Petaybee's oceans for years. Now that they have been discovered they plan to leave, the twins persuade Kushtaka to take them with her and to help them rescue Marmie. HC $55

Some centuries from now, the exploration and exploitation of the Solar System is in full swing. On the cold edge of the system, Bella Lind, captain of the huge commercial spacecraft Rockhopper IV, helps fuel this new gold rush by attaching mass-driver motors to organic-rich water-ice comets to move them back to the inner worlds. Her crew are tough, blue-collar miners, engineers and demolition experts. Around Saturn, something inexplicable happens: one of the moons leaves its orbit and accelerates out of the Solar System. The icy mantle peels away to reveal that it was never a moon in the first place, just a parked spacecraft, millions of years old, that has now decided to move on. Rockhopper IV, trapped in the pull, is hurled across time and space into the deep, distant future, arriving in a vast, alien-constructed chamber. And the crew are not alone, for each chamber contains an alien culture dragged into this cosmic menagerie at the end of time. BPB $19.95

They ride up into space on the lines of electromagnetic force that flower into space from earth like the mighty Ygggradsil - the earth tree of Norse myth. Leaving their weight behind they still carry a cargo of enmities and hatreds. PB $19.95

Justina Robson*Keeping It Real*

The Quantum Bomb of 2015 changed everything. The fabric that kept the universe's different dimensions apart was torn and now, six years later, the people of earth exist in uneasy company with the inhabitants of, amongst others, the elven, elemental and demonic realms. Magic is real and can be even more dangerous than technology. Elves are exotic, erotic, dangerous and really bored with the constant Lord of the Rings references. Elementals are a law unto themselves and demons are best left well to themselves. Special agent Lila Black used to be pretty but now she's not so sure. Her body is now more than half restless carbon and metal alloy machinery. A machine she's barely in control of. It goes into combat mode, enough weapons for a small army springing from within itself, at the merest provocation. As for her heart ... well ever since being drawn into a Game by the elven rockstar she's been assigned to protect, she's not even sure she can trust that anymore either. BPB $22.95

Travis S Taylor*The Quantum Connection (Warp Speed 02)*

Steven Montana, computer whiz and hacker extraordinaire, was attending college in Ohio when his world fell apart. A swarm of huge meteors fell all over the world, on Europe, on the United States, and in particular on Steven's home town in California. In an instant, his family and all his friends were gone.

Suffering fits of deep depression, he dropped out of college and ended up working as a repairman in a video games store, where he did a brilliant job of repairing a 30-year-old video game. That caught the attention of the game's owner, who happened to be in a position to get Steven a government job, cracking computer codes, and reverse engineering unusual hardware.

When he was given a tiny piece of hardware to examine as a "test," he worked out its functions so well that he and his boss were called to Washington for a Top Secret meeting. They asked him countless questions, yet declined to answer his; but he would soon learn all the answers.

The "meteor" onslaught that had orphaned him had actually been a brief and still secret war between the U.S and its enemies (as told in Warp Speed) using a new warp drive technology that was more secret than top secret. Another secret was that U.S. had been sending faster-than-light ships to other star systems. Most secret of all was that unfriendly aliens were observing the Earth, and while U.S. spaceships were not quite in a war with the unknown aliens, they were shooting at the intruders.

Whether any of these answers would do Steven any good was an open question because he learned them only after he was abducted by those very same aliens and was held prisoner on one of their ships orbiting Saturn. At first, he was one of three human prisoners, but he had just seen the aliens completely dissect one of the three, and it looked like either Steven, or the Russian girl who was his fellow prisoner, were scheduled to be the next alien lab experiment. . . . APB $19.95

Ronda Thompson*The Cursed One (Wild Wulfs of London 03)*

Wed and widowed in one day, stunning socialite Amelia Sinclair's honeymoon is anything but typical. Then again, neither is Amelia – rebellious and impulsive, marrying Robert Collingsworth was the one sensible thing she ever did. Now he's dead and she must escape the vicious creatures stalking her – even if it means relying on a stranger. Well, maybe not a complete stranger. Amelia first glimpsed Gabriel Wulf years ago on the busy streets of London; since then he has haunted her dreams. But in the flesh, Gabriel is much more tantalising than she ever dreamed, and much more complicated...

Gabriel Wulf, the strong one, the sensible one – the family, and the curse that plagued them, were his only priorities; there was little time for women and none for love. Now, he must protect an enticing beauty – and not just from the dangers that prowl the woods around them. Gabriel has secrets; dark ones he's sure Amelia must never know and could never understand. But she has already awakened his heart... and the beast within. Will Amelia be the key to his salvation, or the architect of her own demise? APB $17.95

Young Warriors

What makes a warrior? This gutsy collection of original short stories offers a variety of answers to the question with thoughtfulness, heart and the occasional wink. The characters in these stories range from archetypal 'take no prisoners' heroes to those who abhor violence. There are even a few who are utterly clueless at the outset and must discover what they are made of. The settings are as diverse as the warriors themselves: purely fantasy realms are represented, as well as medieval England, a mythical African plain, ancient Greece and Egypt, colonial India and folktale Russia, to name a few. Regardless of protagonist or locale, these stories will thrill and entertain readers. But most importantly, they will make a reader ask the warrior within: what would I fight for? Compiled by best-selling author Tamora Pierce and folklorist/author Josepha Sherman, 'Young Warriors' includes stories by some of today's most acclaimed and beloved fantasy and science-fiction authors for both adults and young adults. BPB $19.99

These walls now turn against them --

some evil's been unfurled. . . .

The one thing any Halliwell witch has always been able to count on is Halliwell Manor, the ancestral home of the Charmed Ones and one of San Francisco's historical landmark homes. The grand old house has sheltered generations of women, and bits of Charmed history are practically built into the walls.

So when the Manor seems to have turned against its inhabitants, needless to say, the Halliwell sisters start to worry. It begins simply: The hot water heater is broken. No big: Leo's great around the house. But this is no simple plumbing problem. Soon, the Manor seems to be messing with the girls, Leo, and Wyatt in increasingly malicious ways. Thankfully, the Book of Shadows has created a safe zone for itself in the attic. But the Charmed Ones can hardly live up there forever. . . . 150 Years of NSW First Class Cricket

New South Wales played its first first-class match, against Victoria, in Melbourne in March 1856, and played a return match against that colony in Sydney in January 1857. The latter was the first first-class match in this state and engendered great excitement in the young colony. Written to celebrate the 150th anniversary of first-class cricket in New South Wales, 150 Years of NSW First-class Cricket covers all 1014 first-class cricket matches played by New South Wales to the end of the 2005-06 season. In chronological order, the book describes every first-class match played by New South Wales, and details outstanding performances in each. It tracks the fortunes of New South Wales in the Sheffield Shield and subsequent Pura Cup, and against touring teams. The book follows the careers of not just the great names - Bradman, Trumper, Benaud, Walters and Waugh - in their matches for New South Wales, but discovers forgotten greats including Charles 'The Terror' Turner, Monty Noble, Charlie Macartney, Warren Bardsley, the tragic Archie Jackson, and many others who have made New South Wales far and away the most successful Australian state team. In addition to photographs of teams of the past, selected original scorecards have been reproduced, among them Don Bradman's world record 452* in 1930. The book is a storehouse of statistics, interesting facts and biographical details, and the career records section includes the career details of all players who have represented New South Wales. HC $65

Genius Instruction Manual

Remember that time you bumped into Stephen Hawking at the clambake and his monologue on string theory went completely over your head? Man, was that awkward. Or remember the time you were at a party and someone asked, "Who knows how to perform open-heart surgery?" and you were the only one who didn't raise your hand?

Well, put all of that embarrassment behind you. Want to dazzle crowds with your wondrous knowledge of Shakespeare and surgeries? Want to learn to woo just like history's greatest minds? Well, start reading already! The Genius Instruction Manual is a foolproof finishing school for polishing your brain. All you've got to do is dive in. BPB $24.99

The Cambridge Companion to Science Fiction

Science fiction is at the intersection of numerous fields. It is a literature which draws on popular culture, and which engages in speculation about science, history, and all types of social relations. This volume brings together essays by scholars and practitioners of science fiction, which look at the genre from these different angles. After an introduction to the nature of science fiction, historical chapters trace science fiction from Thomas More to the present day, including a chapter on film and television. The second section introduces four important critical approaches to science fiction drawing their theoretical inspiration from Marxism, postmodernism, feminism and queer theory. The final and largest section of the book looks at various themes and sub-genres of science fiction. A number of well-known science fiction writers contribute to this volume, including Gwyneth Jones, Ken MacLeod, Brian Stableford, Andy Duncan, James Gunn, Joan Slonczewski, and Damien Broderick. TP $56.95

People of the Moon (People)

The moon had reached its maximum three times since the Chacoans conquered the First Moon People. The Chaco matrons had built their Great House high atop First Moon Mountain, and their warriors stalked arrogantly through the villages, taking what they pleased. But the gods can only stand so much human arrogance.

Cold Bringing Woman, the goddess of winter, calls upon young Ripple to embark on a perilous quest to destroy the hated Chacoans. But Ripple will not face the task alone; he is aided by his stalwart friends: Wrapped Wrist, a short Lothario; Spots, scared at birth, and aide to the frightening witch, Nightshade; and Bad Cast, a simple family man, who will do anything to free his people.

But the blessed matrons will brook no insurgency. In retaliation, war chief Leather Hand and his warriors embark on a campaign of terror so gruesome it remains unrivalled in the annals of prehistory. It all comes to a climax atop the mountain we now know as Chimney Rock. In the white light of the lunar maximum, the Pueblo gods will dance – and an empire will be engulfed in flames and mayhem. APB $16.95

Dean Koontz*Brother Odd*

By popular demand, the story of the life and times of Odd Thomas continues. In flight from memories of his lost soul–mate Stormy Llewellyn, Odd is one of four guests at a monastery in the High Sierra. It's December. In contrast to the sunbleached desert town of Pico Mundo where Odd was born, icy winds and deep snow besiege the remote abbey. A white dog named Boo befriends Odd. The King of Rock 'n' Roll has followed him there and silently serenades man and dog. But Elvis isn't the only spooky phenomenon in the place. One of the other guests is John Heineman, world–famous physicist, who years earlier left the secular world to become a monk – but he continues his physics experiments down in the 'corpseless catacombs' of the facility. Heineman had originally taken to the monastic life because he found the nature of reality, as quantum mechanics reveals it, so very weird, and so are his experiments. Added to this, bodachs are prowling the halls, and Odd knows what that means: an event of terrible violence is pending. He begins to fear that someone intends to kill all the monks in the abbey. Odd has a knack for finding himself in the path of trouble no matter where he goes; even among the eccentric monks in their sanctuary. Odd is about to encounter an enemy who eclipses any he has yet encountered. TP $32.99

Jayne Ann Krentz*White Lies*

Fearing that her high-level psychic abilities have irrevocably damaged her ability to have a healthy relationship, Clare Lancaster travels to California to assist her father's business and realizes that things are not as they appear upon meeting financial consultant Jake Salter, with whom she shares an unlikely chemistry. By the author of All Night Long. HC $51.95

Mike Morwood & Penny van Oosterzee*The Discovery of the Hobbit*

When in October 2004 the prestigious science publication NATURE published the discovery of a 3-foot (1-metre) tall hominid skeleton, the world's press went wild. Hailed as one of the most important scientific discoveries for years, the 'Hobbit', as the adult female came to be known, entered the history books. But until now none of the members of the original archaeological team have told their story in book form. THE DISCOVERY OF THE HOBBIT, written by the orchestrator of the dig, describes in vivid detail what the project was aiming to achieve, what it was like to stumble across such a find, what it means for our understanding of the history of the human race and how the whole enterprise nearly collapsed under the weight of Australia's fractious relationship with Indonesia. Featuring a bizarre island where evolution ran amok in isolation from the rest of the world and an eerie myth that may well be grounded in truth -- not to mention the reasons why other 'hobbits' may well be alive and undiscovered elsewhere in Indonesia, this remarkable book is an adventure story and a fascinating investigation, a moving and personal narrative and a landmark celebration of scientific endeavour. TP $34.95

Dana Stabenow*A Deeper Sleep (Kate Shugak)*

PI Kate Shugak has been working on a case for the Anchorage DA involving the murder of a woman by her husband.

Louis Deem has been the subject of investigations before, and he's never been convicted. But Kate and state trooper Jim Chopin are convinced that this time he'll be punished for his actions. When he's found not guilty, Kate and Jim and the rest of Nilniltna, Alaska, are certain that a man has gotten away with murder and that it's only a matter of time before he tries again.

Sure enough, a few weeks later a woman and her son are shot, the victims of an apparent robbery. But this time, Kate and Jim have a witness. Deem won't get away again. Or will he? HC $51.95

Blindfold Game

In Thailand, a bomb destroys a tourist spot while two North Korean terrorists casually walk away from the site to plan the next phase of their plot against the United States.

In Washington, CIA analyst Hugh Rincon catches the chatter about something big being planned along the Pacific rim, and his best agent says it's linked to the Thailand blast. Now Hugh is beginning to connect the dots between missing radioactive material, a SCUD missile sold on the black market, and a Russian ship sailing toward the Alaskan coast... But the Administration refuses to heed his warning.

In the Bering Sea, Coast Guard cutter Sojourner Truth is on routine patrol. On board is Hugh's estranged wife, executive officer Sara Lange. Sara and her ship are Hugh's only hope for stopping the terrorists... if she's willing to believe her ex-husband's story and risk her own career – and her crew's lives – to hunt down a death ship... APB $17.95

Jack Whyte

The Eagle (Camulod)

Beginning with The Skystone, the first in his riveting Camulod Chronicles, Jack Whyte has embarked on an ambitious and remarkable re-telling of the Arthurian cycle, giving us a fresh and compelling take on a story that has been beloved for centuries.

The Eagle brings us at last to the heart of the tale, the creation of fabled Camelot and the love story that enshrined its glory. Whyte takes us into the minds and lives of Arthur, Guinevere, and Lancelot, three astonishing but fallible people who were bound together by honour, loyalty, and love. Three who created the glory that was Britain's shining dream... And, some say, caused its downfall.

The Gaulish nobleman Clothar – known in our time as Lancelot – is drawn to the young High King's court by tales of honour and nobility, where he meets a man whose love of law matches his own. More, he finds in Arthur a life-long friend whose dream of uniting the people of Britain in peace Clothar embraces. And Clothar meets Arthur's queen, a wondrous beauty whose passion and ideals match her husband's. Together they work to bring Arthur's dream to life.

But dark forces rise in opposition to Arthur's plans for creating this noble island nation, and it is hard to tell friend from foe in the swirling chaos that ensues. HC $56.95
